New route open for refugees to settle in UK

LONDON

THE UK has announced new "safe and legal" routes for refugees, including Indians, seeking resettlement as part of efforts to curb illegal migration through unsafe routes such as small boats crossing the English Channel.

Home Office Minister for Border Security and Asylum Anna Turley told the House of Commons on Thursday that the new routes will initially operate from seven countries — India, Bangladesh, Egypt, Kenya, Malaysia, Pakistan and Uganda. To be eligible, refugees will need to be outside their country of nationality and to have been present and registered with relevant authorities or the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) in one of these countries before October 1 this year.

"The first arrivals through these routes are expected in autumn 2027. The new routes will enable refugees to come to the UK and provide them with an opportunity for a better life," Turley said.

"However, it is imperative that these routes are only used to support refugees with a genuine need for protection to resettle in the UK. This is why we will work in partnership with the UNHCR who will assess refugees through established processes. "All refugees who are identified will be required to meet identity, security and eligibility requirements and have suitable sponsorship arrangements in place to be granted status," she said. The minister said the move is in keeping with the country's "compassionate" outlook of living up to its international obligations and saving the lives of those fleeing war and persecution.

Part of the "safe and legal" options for refugees will be a new named community sponsorship, refugee work and refugee study routes to create pathways for them to come to the UK legally to build their lives in the community. A sponsorship option will connect refugees with universities and employers that are ready to support them. "These routes will be capped and controlled, with the number of arrivals based on community capacity to sponsor refugees. The government expect arrivals of UNHCR-approved refugees across the new routes and the existing UK resettlement scheme to number in the hundreds at first, but this will grow into the low thousands as levels of illegal migration fall," Turley told MPs. PTI

Clashes break out in French cities amid fresh protests

PARIS

POLICE fired tear gas and clashed with protesters in Paris and elsewhere on Saturday as hundreds of thousands marched across France against soaring living costs and police violence, with some demonstrators dressed as clowns and witches for Halloween.

While the third consecutive weekend of nationwide protests was largely peaceful, tensions erupted in several cities later Saturday.

After a march on the outskirts of Paris in bright sunshine, clashes broke out between police and some demonstrators as the procession reached its final destination.

Dozens of masked people dressed in black used hammers to pry up paving stones and hurl them at police. At least one incendiary device was also thrown at security forces. Police responded with tear gas and several baton charges.

"A hard core of several hundred rioters" at the rear of the march attacked police with projectiles, including a Molotov cocktail, the police prefecture said. Officers were seeking "to restore public order", it added.

In Lyon, France's third-largest city, people threw projectiles at police, prompting officers to fire tear gas, according to a journalist at the scene.

In the southern city of Toulouse, police used water cannon against an unauthorised protest that drew several thousand people, mostly young demonstrators.

Earlier Saturday, thousands of people, some wearing costumes ranging from Spider-Man to Frankenstein, walked through eastern Paris as a helicopter circled overhead.

Placards read: "No need for tear gas to make our future look bleak" and "Dressed up as an angry citizen for Halloween." AFP

Evacuees from Russian-held Oleshky arrived

KYIV

RESIDENTS of the Russian-occupied city of Oleshky, ravaged by years of war, arrived in Ukraine on Saturday after being evacuated via Belarus during a rare local ceasefire brokered by US First Lady Melania Trump.

An AFP journalist saw the residents, some draped in Ukrainian flags, disembark from buses and tearfully embrace their loved ones in emotional scenes. Oleshky, in Ukraine's southern Kherson region, was captured by the Russian military in 2022, and had been caught in intense fighting between the two sides that left residents starving and unable to escape.

First Lady Melania Trump described the city as being "on the brink of disaster" and said without her intervention, bringing aid would have been "impossible". AFP

US politicos dish out dosas to woo Indian-Americans voters

WASHINGTON

FROM dishing out mouthwatering dosas at restaurants to making temple visits, candidates in the US midterm elections are pulling out all the stops to woo Indian-American voters, who can tilt the scales of power in key races.

Democratic candidate James Talarico tried his hand at flipping dosas at an Indian restaurant in Irving in suburban Dallas, which is home to a large number of Indian-Americans.

Dressed up in a black suit and a white shirt, Talarico scooped up dosa batter in a bowl, spread it evenly on a hot pan, and topped it up with a spicy potato mix. PTI

Iran warns of wider attacks if conflict resumes

Supreme Leader tells US his forces prepared to give 'geographically unrestricted' response

WASHINGTON

IRAN'S supreme leader Mojtaba Khamenei on Saturday warned the United States and Israel against returning to war, according to a written statement, following threats from the Islamic republic's foes of a possible resumption of strikes.

"If the enemies once again launch military or terrorist attacks, it is the armed forces of the Islamic Republic and the Iranian nation that will determine the time and conditions for ending them," said a statement attributed to Khamenei posted on his website.

The remarks came during a reported meeting between Khamenei and senior military commanders, including armed forces chief of staff Ali Abdollahi, army chief Amir Hatami and Revolutionary Guards commander Ahmad Vahidi. It was the first reported meeting between them.

According to the statement, Khamenei ordered the commanders to ensure that "any level or type of threat must be met with an immediate, impactful and geographically unrestricted response".

It also said that Khamenei ordered the commanders to update Iran's target list to include "all types of tangible and intangible assets belonging to the American-Zionist enemy".

Saudi calls for calm amid fears of new escalation

Saudi Arabia's vice minister of foreign affairs said the message from the region is that it wants a return to peace. Waleed ElKhereiji said efforts were being made to prevent a military escalation and reach an agreement that ends the crisis. "If you look at the efforts that everybody is trying to do, the message is very clear. People in this part of the world want to bring peace back," he said

'US tone has changed'

Iran on Saturday said the tone of the United States had "completely changed" as Washington seeks to restart negotiations with the Islamic republic.

WAR WATCH

While the US and Israel have upped their threats to order fresh strikes, Vice President JD Vance also sent a letter to Iranian officials in recent days in a bid to revive talks. "I read the letter. I haven't yet responded. Their tone has completely changed," Mohsen Rezaei, the head of Iran's supreme national security council, said in a video broadcast on Iranian television.

He said the change in tone was "a good sign" and showed Iran had "consolidated its victory". AFP
