Nov likely to be slightly warmer than usual: IMD

Most Parts Of Country Expected To Get 'Below Normal' Rainfall

Normal to 'above normal' rainfall is expected in central, northwest and northeast India

New Delhi: Nov is likely to be slightly warmer than usual, recording 'above normal' maximum (day) and minimum (night) temperatures over most parts of the country, IMD said on Saturday.

The Met department also predicted that the country may get 'below normal' rainfall in most parts except for some areas in central, northwest and northeast India, where normal to 'above normal' rainfall is expected in Nov. 'Below normal' rainfall may be a concern for peninsular India as that part of the country usually gets good rains during the month on account of the winter (northeast) monsoon.

The prediction of normal to 'above normal' rainfall in some areas of central and northeast India assumes significance for Madhya Pradesh and adjoining areas of Maharashtra and Gujarat, east Uttar Pradesh and Bihar as it will help wheat crop in these rain-fed regions during the month.

Meanwhile, the existing depression over southwest Bay of Bengal is likely to develop as a cyclonic storm on Sunday and cross south Andhra Pradesh and north Tamil Nadu coasts during the Monday evening-Tuesday morning period, bringing heavy rains to the coastal areas of both the states. Once the existing system develops into a cyclonic storm, it will be called 'Murasu' – the name proposed by India as part of the list of tropical cyclone names approved by the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) in April 2020. 'Murasu' is a Tamil word which means a drum, particularly a traditional percussion instrument.

"Monthly rainfall for Nov over the south Peninsular India, consisting of Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, Karaikkal, coastal Andhra Pradesh and Rayalaseema region, Kerala, Mahe and south interior Karnataka, is most likely to be 'below normal' (less than 77% of the Long Period Average)," said IMD chief Mrutyunjay Mohapatra while releasing the monthly outlook for rainfall and temperature for Nov.

The long period average (LPA) of rainfall over south Peninsular India during Nov, based on data from 1971 to 2020, is about 118.7 mm.

New Delhi: Air Chief Marshal Ashutosh Dixit, a strong advocate of 'Atmanirbharta' initiatives in the defence sector who played key roles in the Kargil War as well as Op Sindoor, on Saturday took charge as the 29th Indian Air Force (IAF) chief. He succeeds Air Chief Marshal AP Singh, who superannuated after 42 years of service.

On Saturday, outgoing IAF chief ACM Amar Preet Singh was accorded a ceremonial guard of honour at Race Course Air Force Station before the baton was handed over the baton to Dixit. "Beyond operational leadership, Air Chief Marshal AP Singh will be remembered for his deep and personal connect with air warriors across the length and breadth of the organisation," IAF said in a statement. "The outgoing chief made "significant contributions" to the operational capability, combat preparedness and modernisation of the force, it added. Over a career spanning four decades, ACM Dixit has experience in many operations, flight testing, capability development and joint staff assignments. An accomplished fighter pilot, flying instructor and experimental test pilot, ACM Dixit has over 3,300 hours of flying experience on a wide range of aircraft, including Mirage-2000, MiG variants, Jaguar and several transport aircraft.

India on path to becoming drug-free nation, says Shah

Bharti.Jain@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Home minister Amit Shah on Saturday said the country, having covered milestones like abrogation of Article 370 to reintegrate Kashmir into India, eradication of Naxalism and implementation of a unified tax system, is now on the path to becoming a drug-free nation.

"The realisation of a drug-free India would be the most significant achievement of all — one that would profoundly benefit the nation's youth and future," Shah said here after flagging off the 'Run for Unity' on the occasion of Rashtriya Ekta Diwas, marking the 151st birth anniversary of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel.

Paying homage to the 'Iron Man of India', minister Shah said that he had not only transformed the history of India but also shaped its geography by undertaking the arduous task of integrating over 500 princely states and royal domains.
