Dreaded mafias ran parallel govt in UP before 2017: Yogi

FLAGS OFF 87 INTERCEPTOR VEHICLES

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Thursday said his government had introduced police reforms and expanded technology use to strengthen law enforcement as a result of which Uttar Pradesh was witnessing a major transformation in law and order since 2017, recalling that the state had earlier faced serious challenges with crime, communal violence and inadequate policing infrastructure.

Addressing a programme at Lok Bhavan here, where he flagged off 87 technologically equipped interceptor vehicles, honoured police personnel and released former UP DGP Prakash Singh's book 'Sangharsh', the chief minister said that before 2017, dreaded mafias held sway in every district and parallel governments were being run while the police were helpless before them.

The chief minister added that police infrastructure and training facilities were also inadequate and the political leadership of the time was unable to take firm decisions on law and order.

He, however, did not name any political party for this state of affairs.

The chief minister said the state had now "emerged from the period of policy paralysis".

The advanced interceptor vehicles, comprising four-wheelers and two-wheelers, are intended to strengthen traffic enforcement and road safety across the state.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath flags off interceptor vehicles (four-wheelers and two-wheelers) equipped with state-of-the-art equipment during a ceremony in Lucknow on Thursday PTI

The chief minister said police reforms advocated by Prakash Singh had been pursued in UP after 2017 and the state now had seven police commissionerates and that policing increasingly combines institutional reforms, technology and operational capabilities.

Referring to criticism of public figures and institutions, the chief minister said it was easy to make comments while sitting in a secure environment. He argued that a peaceful and secure social environment was essential for economic growth and prosperity.

He also recalled the security challenges faced by the Terai region during periods of terrorism, saying that movement in some areas was once possible only under police and military protection.

He noted that Prakash Singh had faced such challenges during his tenure as DGP and later pursued police reforms through the Supreme Court.

The chief minister said reforms had to extend beyond policy documents and become part of day-to-day administration. He praised Singh's career and described his book as a record of the challenges and experiences associated with police service.

The chief minister said that before 2017, UP faced serious challenges related to law and order, police infrastructure, training and public perception. He cited communal disturbances in places including Kosi Kalan, Meerut, Aligarh and Muzaffarnagar and said prolonged curfews had been imposed in several locations. He also claimed that police training capacity had been limited, with only around 6,000 personnel being trained annually, while police personnel were sometimes housed in inadequate buildings.

He said several Provincial Armed Constabulary units had also been discontinued.

According to the chief minister, these conditions contributed to Uttar Pradesh being described as a "BIMARU" state, with challenges extending beyond law and order to the economy, employment, technology and implementation of welfare schemes.

Highlighting his government's emphasis on technology-driven policing, the chief minister said more than 1.4 million cameras had been installed across cities under the Safe City initiative. He said these cameras were being used both for crime prevention and investigation.

Integrated Command and Control Centres had also been established in districts, he said, adding that the combination of policing experience, administrative reforms and technology was changing the functioning and public image of the Uttar Pradesh Police. The chief minister also paid tribute to late UP Police STF Inspector Sunil Kumar Singh, who was posthumously awarded the Kirti Chakra by the Government of India.

Singh had confronted four armed criminals in an encounter on January 22, 2025, and sustained critical injuries during the operation before subsequently succumbing to them.

The chief minister described the award as a significant honour for the UP Police and paid tribute to Singh's family.

During the programme, 16 police officers and personnel received President's Gallantry Awards, while 10 personnel were presented with the Chief Minister's Gallantry Medal. The chief minister also highlighted road safety as a major challenge for the state. He pointed out that around 23,000-24,000 people die in road accidents in UP every year and stressed the need for stronger enforcement and greater use of technology.

Social Welfare Minister Asim Arun, former DGP Prakash Singh, DGP Rajeev Krishna, Additional Chief Secretary (Home) Sanjay Prasad and senior police officials, personnel and their families attended the event.

Yogi hails Smit for averting mid-air disaster

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Lucknow

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Thursday hailed the courage and sense of duty of flydubai pilot Captain Smit Machchhar, who, despite being seriously injured during an in-flight crisis, helped avert a potential mid-air disaster.

"The courage and sense of duty shown by Captain Smit Machchhar in the face of grave danger is deeply commendable," Yogi Adityanath said.

"Despite being seriously injured during the in-flight crisis, Captain Machchhar remained resolute and played a crucial role in helping protect the lives of those on board," Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath posted on X.

"His courage, presence of mind and commitment to duty will always be remembered. Praying to Prabhu Shri Ram for his speedy recovery, strength and good health. Jai Hind!" Yogi Adityanath said.

The Indian pilot helped avert a potential mid-air disaster after being stabbed and seriously injured by his co-pilot during a Dubai-Tel Aviv flight carrying 174 people.

Despite his injuries, Machchhar fought back and managed to open the cockpit door, enabling passengers and crew to overpower the attacker.

The aircraft was subsequently diverted and landed safely in Tabuk, Saudi Arabia.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu credited him with saving all 174 lives and called him a "true hero".

A Mumbai native, Machchhar has over 13 years of commercial flying experience and more than 9,500 flight hours. He previously spent over 11 years with SpiceJet, including as a line training captain, before joining flydubai in June 2022.

3 centenarians, four senior achievers felicitated

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE
Lucknow

On the occasion of International Day of Older Persons, the Uttar Pradesh government reiterated its commitment to the dignity, welfare and social protection of senior citizens.

A special function organised jointly by the Social Welfare Department, HelpAge India and the Senior Citizens Mahasamiti at Bhagidari Bhawan in Gomti Nagar saw three centenarians and four senior citizens being honoured for their contributions to society.

Social Welfare Minister (Independent Charge) Asim Arun felicitated three senior citizens who have completed 100 years of age — Lalli Devi, Rani Kapoor and retired judge Kameshwar Nath — with the Shatayu Samman.

Four senior citizens recognised for their constructive contributions to society with the Senior Achievers Award were Vinod Kumar Shukla, Lalit Singh Pokhariya, historian and writer Dr Ravi Bhatt, and Dr Kishan Veer Singh Shakya.

Addressing the gathering, Asim Arun said senior citizens represent an invaluable legacy of experience, values and life lessons.

He said society was enriched by their experience and blessings and emphasised that respecting the elderly should become a part of everyday life rather than being viewed merely as a responsibility.

He said the government was working continuously to strengthen measures related to the health, safety, dignity and social protection of senior citizens.

The minister said efforts were underway to increase the availability of trained caregivers for elderly people by linking the care economy with employment opportunities and social security.

He also highlighted welfare measures for senior citizens, including the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act and the National Old Age Pension Scheme.

Maintenance tribunals headed by sub-divisional magistrates have been constituted in all 75 districts of UP, he added.

A documentary highlighting facilities available at old-age homes run by the Social Welfare Department was screened during the programme.

Director of Social Welfare Sanjeev Singh, HelpAge India State Head Anup Pant, Scheduled Caste/Scheduled Tribe Commission Chairman Baijnath Rawat, Joint Director RP Singh, District Social Welfare Officer Anamika Singh, and other officials were present at the event.

UP RERA approves 11 real estate projects

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE
Lucknow

The Uttar Pradesh Real Estate Regulatory Authority (UP RERA) has approved 11 real estate projects in five districts of the state, involving an estimated investment of ₹2,086.06 crore.

The projects are expected to result in the development of 1,873 residential and commercial units.

The approvals were granted during the 215th meeting of the UP RERA held at its headquarters and chaired by its Chairman Sanjay Bhoosreddy.

The proposals were reviewed in detail before approval, with the UP RERA stressing that the projects would have to be developed in accordance with the provisions of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act.

The approved projects are spread across Gautam Buddha Nagar, Lucknow, Barabanki, Ghaziabad and Moradabad.

According to UP RERA, the projects are expected to contribute to the expansion of residential and commercial infrastructure while generating economic activity and employment in construction and related sectors.

Gautam Buddha Nagar accounts for the highest share of the proposed investment. Two residential projects have been approved in the district, involving an estimated investment of ₹1,800.36 crore. Together, these projects will comprise 1,398 residential units.

Lucknow has received the highest number of project approvals, with five projects cleared by the UP RERA.
